Growers' Agency News Service

The following letter was received from the office of the Fruit Growers Agency, Inc., at Walla Walla, Wash.:

"The Federal Office of Markets is to expend thousands of dollars on the fruit industry of the northwest in the immediate establishment of the most extensive news service which has ever been attempted by the department.

"This important news service was secured through the activity of the Fruit Growers Agency. Messrs. C. E. Bassett and O. W. Schleussner of the Office of Markets spent the day at the offices of the agency here, conferring with President Weyrauch over the details of the service.

"It is planned to issue daily mail and telegraphic reports showing the F. O. B. sales and prices according to the principal varieties, also the cars unsold together with their destination and variety. A weekly report on the movement out of storage will also be issued.

"In order to secure this information it will be necessary that selling organizations send daily reports of their transactions to the government office in Spokane and that they permit the government representatives to verify these statements by an examination of their books and telegraphic communications.

"While this service was secured through the agency, its benefits will not be limited to agency members. Any selling organizations which will give the required information concerning their transactions to the Office of Markets will receive this news service.

"This service will be of great value, in that it will bring selling agencies into a more intelligent relationship on the part of buyers and will help stabilize market conditions generally."

It is claimed that there are now more loggers at work in Coos county than ever before.

State Fair Has Great Attractions

Fairgrounds, Salem, Sept. 21. — There will be something doing every minute, day and night, and the visitor to the Oregon State fair, to be held at Salem, September 25 to 30, will find things different, vastly and pleasingly different from anything of the kind ever experienced in the history of the institution. Every feature and phase of the exposition has been organized and will be conducted strictly along educational lines looking to the promotion and development of the agricultural and industrial interests of the state.

The grounds have been beautified with green and velvety lawns and artistically arranged flower beds filled with a wide and rare variety of choice seasonable blossoms. The buildings have been cleaned and repaired, the water and sewage systems greatly enlarged and improved, the rest room and toilet facilities for both sexes, under supervision of trained and courteous colored attendants, will be found commodious, comfortable and convenient than ever before. Every restaurant, building and concession on the grounds will be under strict inspection and regulation of the state board of health.

In the stock department there will be the most representative exhibit of livestock, all breeds, including poultry, ever held at the State fair; the agricultural, horticultural, fine arts, textiles, industrial, dairy products, farm implements and machinery, including the latest in farm tractors and other labor, money and time saving devices, and the biggest display of 1917 model automobiles—direct from the factory to the fairgrounds—will surpass anything ever attempted before.

There will be illustrated lectures, motion pictures of an educational nature, including a "farmers" film, donated by the U. S. department of agriculture and entitled "Putting Uncle Frank to Work", depicting the latest improvements in farming methods; good roads and irrigation demonstrations, illustrated by motion pictures, colored slides and a working model, and practical working demonstrations daily, upon cow testing, milk testing, silo filling, egg testing, scientific feeding, etc.

The night horse show, with a special program every evening in fancy riding, driving, hurdle racing, high jumping, thoroughbred saddle and driving horses, Shetland and other ponies for boys and girls, cow ponies, will prove one of the most popular attractions of this year. The daily speed program with $16,000 in purses and special novelty races and musical concerts will be the best and most thrilling ever.

There will be four big concert bands headed by McElroy's celebrated band of Portland, seven talented vocal soloists to furnish music for every occasion, day and night, besides the famous Veterans Fife and Drum corps, composed of veterans of the Civil war, whose ranks are rapidly depleting, and the "Sagebrush Symphony" juvenile orchestra, of Harney county, composed of youthful musicians of exceptional merit. There will be special musical programs in both pavilions, the groves, the grandstand and in the livestock and horse show stadium every morning, afternoon and night.

Three big carnival organizations will furnish clean and wholesome amusement and entertainment to suit every taste, there will be dancing pavilions, free outside attractions, night campfires and every comfort and convenience for everybody.

Monday is Children's day (children admitted free); Tuesday, Women's day, Good Roads day, State Societies day; Wednesday, Salem day, Shriners' day, Pioneer's day, Woodmen's day, Artisans' day; Thursday, Portland day, Elks' day and night, Transportation day; Friday, Governor's day, governors of Washington, Idaho and Oregon in attendance, Editor's day, Scandinavian day, County Judges' and Commissioner's day, Exhibitor's night; Saturday, Manufacturers' day, Grange day, Concessioners' and Carnival night. Special excursion rates on all railroads. You'll be glad you came—you'll go away satisfied.
